MORE BAD MONEY

It is reported that a counterfeit five dollar gold piece was found by a travelling man on the depot platform at Heaford Junction, Saturday. The coin was a very good imitation of the genuine article and might easily pass for such. Can it be that some of the bogus money manufactured by the Donnerstags is still in circulation or has another organization of counterfeiters commenced operations in this section?

THREE LUNCHES COST EIGHT DOLLARS EACH

Young Men Cause Trouble At Hen-ning's Cafe and Settle in Police Court

Even at this day when the price of food stuffs is continually soaring higher, the majority of people would consider it rather expensive to pay eight dollars each for three lunches.
However, this is exactly what Axel Backstrom, Adolph Reno and Grover Powers paid in Municipal court, Monday afternoon, for nothing more nor less than three bowls of chicken soup at Henning's restaurant on Stevens Street. The questions now arise why was it necessary for these three young men to pay such an exorbitant price for this ordinary dish and why was it necessary for them to settle the bill in police court? The following little story is self explanatory.

On Sunday evening at a late hour the trio entered Henning's restaurant and ordered the soup. They were promptly waited on by Mr. Henning, the proprietor, who after filling the orders returned to his work in the kitchen. Hastily devouring the broth two of the young men rushed out of the place leaving their friend to settle the bill. Unfortunately he had left his pocket book at home and informed Mr. Henning that his partners had all the money. He then went with Mr. Henning in pursuit of the two who were located on Davenport Street near the home of Pat Gleason. Upon requesting them to pay for the lunch one of the fellows promptly hit the restaurant man a terrific blow in the face. When Mr.
Henning recovered from the shock he found that the three had disappeared.
The next morning he issued warrants for the arrest of Backstrom, Reno and Powers on a charge of assault and battery. They appeared before Justice LaSalle that afternoon, pleaded guilty and were each fined five dollars and costs amounting in all to twenty-four dollars.

The lesson is one which the young men richly deserve. They may consider it far wiser and cheaper to conduct themselves in a manner more becoming gentlemen in the future.

MILITIA AT CAMP DOUGLAS

Co. L Members Expect To Make Records at Range Fire.

Company L of this city numbering sixty-five members left Saturday morning over the Northwestern road for the annual encampment at Camp Douglas. The journey was made in a private car. At Eland Junction this car was attached to a special train containing companies of the second regiment from Marinette and Oconto.
At Marshfield the guardsmen were joined by the company of that city and the regimental band. The regiment will remain at camp one week leaving there next Saturday.

The boys of Co. L write their friends that they are having a pleasant time and thoroughly enjoying the vigorous routine of regular army life.
They have sent home souvenir post cards containing photos of the company at various maneuvers.

On the firing range the boys expect to make a record for themselves. For two months previous to their departure for camp they were at target practice. The scores for the last four weeks have been published in the New North. It is an undisputed fact that Co. L. has as members several of the best marksmen in the state.

APPOINTED DIVORCE COUNSEL

S. S. Miller Is Selected For New Office By Judge A. H. Reid

District Attorney S. S. Miller of this city has been appointed by Judge Reid of the Sixteenth judicial circuit to the office of divorce counsel for Oneida county. This is in accordance with the provisions of a law passed at the last session of the legislature relative to divorces.

The counsel's duty will be to appear in court in cases where the defendant has not appeared and inform the court of the merits of the case.
Before such presentation of the case is made no divorce can be granted.
The new law went into effect July 1.

Divorce counsels named in the other three counties of Judge Reid's district are: Lincoln, George Curtis of Merrill; Marathon, Brayton E. Smith of Wausau; Vilas, George E. O'Connor of Eagle River.

LECTURES TO THE HIBERNIANS

Prof. Robt. of Marquette College Tells Of Irish History

The members of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians of this city had as their guest, Monday evening, Prof. M. G. Robt. of Marquette College. Prof. Robt. is an orator of much ability and delivered an interesting address on Hibernianism and Irish history. Following the lecture the Ladies' Auxiliary to the order served refreshments.

Prof. Robt. has frequently visited Rhinelander and has a large acquaintance here. He is an ardent worker for the A. O. H. and has just established a division at Antigo.

The professor is a graduate of Dublin University and for eighteen years has been connected with Marquette College. This institution at present has one thousand students and one hundred instructors. A number of Rhinelander boys intend to attend Marquette next year.

SHOWER ENDS GAME WITH THE GOPHERS

Score 5 to 2 in Favor of Colored Boys in Fifth Inning—Antigo Here Next Sunday.

By a score of 5 to 2, the Gophers, the crack colored base ball team of St. Paul, defeated Rhinelander in a five inning game in this city yesterafternoon.

The Gophers had one man on base in the sixth inning when rain prevented further playing. The down pour continued for about twenty minutes rendering the diamond unfit for continuance of the game. The colored boys were just beginning to pull off their funny stunts and the fans left greatly disappointed at not being able to witness the remainder of the contest.

The Gophers proved themselves to be a clean bunch of ball tossers who were thoroughly familiar with all the fine points of the game. This is to be expected however, as they do nothing but play ball during the entire summer.

The addition of St. John, pitcher, and Bies, first base man, has materially strengthened the local team.
Manager Belliel still has lines out for a catcher and as soon as he is secured, which will be shortly, the team will be intact.

Following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	E	E
Rhinelander	0	0	0	0	2	2	4	1
Gophers	0	1	4	0	0	5	4	1

Summary—2 base hits, Barton, Mil-line, Roach. 3 base hits, Barbare, Bies, O'Melia. Struck out by Mc-Murray 9, by St. John 2. Base on balls, Gophers 2. Umpire, Garner.

"PHENOM" FROM MEDFORD

One feature of the game was the catching of that Medford man. He appeared for two innings when it was necessary to use the hook in order to remove him from the field. One of the popular barbers of this city, who previous to the game introduced the stranger as his cousin, now admits that he was only fooling the boys and is willing to file an affidavit that no relationship exists.

WILL PLAY ANTIGO

Local fans will receive with delight the announcement that Manager Belliel has secured a series of four games with our old rival, Antigo.
The first of these games will be played in this city next Sunday. Antigo has an unusually strong team this season and will enter into the series with the firm determination of winning every game. The visitors will be accompanied by a crowd of Antigo rooters. The game will be played strictly on its merits and those who attend can expect to see a good, clean exhibition. No "rough house" plays such as took place when the two teams met here last season will be tolerated. Manager Belliel says that spectators will not be allowed on the diamond and the first person who attempts to "start something" will be asked to leave the grounds. In his posters advertising the game he requests all pupils to remain at home.
Geo. Roller will umpire.

PELICAN LAKE HAS FIRE

Pelican Lake had a disastrous fire last Saturday night. The post office, two saloons and a boarding house were totally destroyed. It was with a strong effort that the residents prevented the flames from spreading to the Beach Hotel, the popular summer resort. Had a wind been prevailing the destruction of the entire village would have resulted. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

TAKEN AFTER BATTLE WITH ELAND POLICE

James Clearmont, Who Escaped From Sparta Jail, Captured Saturday Evening.

James Clearmont, alleged bark robber, who with James Radley escaped from the Monroe county jail at Sparta a number of weeks ago, was recaptured last Saturday evening at Eland Junction.

S. W. Bruner, teacher in the schools at North Crandon was at Eland at the time and related the New North the following account of Clearmont's arrest.

Clearmont in company with two tramp friends was coming out of a saloon when he was recognized by the village constable. The officer tapped the man on the shoulder and requested him to come along. With an oath Clearmont started to run, the officer and several other residents of the village giving pursuit. When near the Northwestern round house the fugitive whipped out a revolver and commenced to fire on the crowd.
Fortunately the shots went wild and it was when the man had emptied all the chambers of the weapon that he was over powered. When placed in the village jail the prisoner lighted his pipe and conversed freely with the people who gathered to see him.
An officer from Sparta arrived at Eland, Monday and escorted Clear-mont back to the Monroe jail.

When arrested Clearmont was attired in a suit of rough clothing, wore an old slouch hat and his hair was clipped giving him the appearance of being bald headed.

Clearmont and his partner, Radley were arrested last fall in this city on a charge of robbing the bank at Sparta. The men are well known to the police of Rhinelander having frequently made their appearance here.
They are said to be leaders of a gang of bank robbers and hold-up men who have their headquarters in the woods near Tomahawk Lake. A reward of one hundred dollars was offered for the capture of Clearmont.

SALOON MEN HAVE TROUBLE

Daigle and Roe Principals in Exciting Case at Hiles.

The little town of Hiles has been the scene of considerable trouble of late over matters pertaining to the saloon there. The principals in the difficulty, A. Daigle and H. L. Roe, are well known in Rhinelander, the former having at one time resided here. As the situation now stands Hiles is on the "water wagon" and will probably remain there for some time to come.

The following is taken from the recent issue of the Crandon Republican:

The lone saloon in the town of Hiles has caused quite a mix up this week.
The saloon has been conducted in the name of A. Daigle who represented H.
L. Roe, of North Crandon. The il-lence of Daigle expired July 1st and the authorities refused to grant him another for the ensuing year. Daigle left town and Roe sent Oscar Chase to look after the place. Daigle returned Wednesday night and drove Chase out at the point of a revolver and holds possession at present. Roe caused Daigle's arrest and he in turn had Roe arrested for the alleged offense of breaking into the building.
The matter will be settled in the courts and in the mean time Hiles is as dry as Crandon.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A County Teachers' Institute will be held the first week in August, beginning the 2nd at the High School building, Rhinelander, Wis. All expecting to teach in Oneida county should be in attendance at this meeting the full week. These institutes are exclusively for those who wish to learn something of the teaching profession and those who are too old to learn are too old to teach. All teachers should be present the first morning and remain throughout the week.

SESSION MAY END SOON

The grand jury has not been in session this week but will convene to-morrow. While it is impossible to learn anything regarding the work of the jury yet it is rumored that it has about completed its investigations and will adjourn shortly. The public is awaiting anxiously to learn the findings of the jury and it is believed that some startling facts will be brought to light.

CIRCUS COMING TO RHINELANDER

Sells-Floto Shows Will Exhibit Here On Friday, July 30.

Rhinelander is not to be without a big circus this summer. On Friday, July 30, the Sells-Floto shows, one of the leading tented amusement enterprises of America, will erect its canvass on the fair grounds in this city.

The contracting agent of the circus was in the city, Saturday and made arrangements for the appearance of the attraction here. At first the agent endeavored to secure the Shepard grounds on the South Side for exhibition purposes but as this tract is partly under cultivation the remaining portion was considered too small to accommodate the show. The representative then called on the officers of the Oneida County Agricultural Association and after much talking finally persuaded them to allow the circus to exhibit on the fair grounds.

The Sells-Floto shows have been on the road for many years and bear a first class reputation. The first advertising car will arrive in the city within a few days and a crew of bill posters will cover the bill boards, sheds and barns with gaily colored lithographs. The small boy will then dance with glee and commence to save his nickels in anticipation of a gala day on July 30.

The circus appears at Ironwood, July 29 and at Appleton, July 31.

ACADEMY FOR BOYS AT CRESCENT LAKE

James T. Kendegren May Move His Keewatin Camps From Mercer To Site Near Rhinelander

James T. Kendegren, owner and manager of the Keewatin Academy for boys and the Keegama camps for girls at Mercer, Iron county, was in the city, yesterday. While here he was entertained by Matt Stapleton.

For several months Mr. Stapleton has been in correspondence with Mr.
Kendegren in an effort to induce the gentleman to move Keewatin Academy from Mercer to Crescent Lake, the beautiful body of water near Woodboro. The chief object of Mr. Kendegren's visit was to look over the proposed location for the academy.
He expressed himself as well pleased with the site but was unprepared to state his exact intentions at this time.

Mr. Stapleton informed us that he will call a meeting of the citizens within a few days for the purpose of discussing the proposition and ascertaining what inducements can be offered Mr. Kendegren to locate one of his camps in this county.

Mr. Kendegren established the Keewatin Academy at Mercer several years ago and the enterprise has from the first been a pronounced success.
At present he has nearly one hundred and fifty boys enrolled. The lads range in age from fifteen to twenty years. They come from New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, and in fact all of the large cities of the east and middle west. The boys devote their time to hunting, fishing, boating and various other kinds of wholesome out doorsports. They take long cane trips on the lakes and it is a frequent occurrence for them to go on tramps through the woods lasting several days. The boys are always in charge of competent guides and instructors. The course continues eight weeks during the summer months for which the tuition is $125.

Mr. Kendegren feels that this city offers more advantages for his school than does Mercer. He deplores the fact that that village has no churches thus neglecting the spiritual welfare of his charges. The establishment of the Keewatin camps at Crescent Lake would prove a benefit in more ways than one to Rhinelander.

INJURED WHILE WADING

Joe Cooper, a North Side lad, was wading in the Wisconsin river last Friday afternoon when he stepped on some sharp object inflicting a severe cut on his right foot. He managed to reach shore but was unable to walk further. It was nearly an hour before his plight was discovered by Chief Straub. The wound bled freely and the boy was in a very weak condition. The Chief carried him to a physician's office where the injury was dressed.

At last accounts young Cooper was reported to be doing nicely and no ill results are anticipated.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Now that the Conference Committee has taken off its coat it may reasonably be expected that the differences between the House and the Senate be thrashed out in a few days and the country will definitely know the kind of a pickle which Congress has prepared for it. It will be a mighty sour one. Every man with sporting blood can gamble his last cent upon that fact.

This conference business does not feel anyone in Washington except some fellow who wants to be fooled.
If he is not blind he can see. If he cannot see and can hear he cannot help hearing the rumblings. Aldrich is all there is to the conference. The cartoonists may picture the President sitting on the lid of the capitol while from beneath him come some discordant notes from the conference room. There are no discordant notes in that room. Mr. Taft is not sitting upon the lid.

Manufacturers are frantically appealing to the President to save them. From what? From Aldrich.
Mr. Aldrich is asked if the conference committee is to take advice from the President. "I have not heard of such a program" was the reply. These same manufacturers have been appealing to Aldrich. Some place they got an erroneous idea that the government is representative. They believed the reports to the effect that the President is to have great influence with the conference and that the bill will be made over in conference. No [such thing will happen. That is it will not happen upon the schedules which affect the weekly house-keeping bills.

For instance, LaFollette demonstrated that the clothing of the men and boys of this country for the year 1910 will cost $120,000,000 more than in 1909. Nothing which the conferees can do will relieve that situation.
Why? The woolen schedule is not in conference. Mr. Aldrich looked after that. The House passed the woolen schedule just as it is in the present law with the single exception of reducing the duty on wool tops. Even the House organization could not stand for that duty in the light of the revelations of the North-Whitman correspondence. So it reduced this duty. Mr. Aldrich accepted all of the House rates except that on tops which he restored to the rate of the present law. So all that is in controvery between the Houses upon this important schedule is the one item of a difference of ten cents per pound on tops. If Aldrich surrenders on that it will make but little difference, the body of the schedule is the same and has been fixed.

Sugar with its imposition of upwards of $60,000,000 unjustly upon the households of this country annually is not in conference because the Senate accepted the rates fixed by the House.

The steel schedule is in conference.
The Senate raised the duties fixed by the House. What chance have the farmers who use wire and nails and other items in that schedule? They may guess from a remark credited to Mr. Payne, chairman of the House committee who said, "I believe the Senate rates in the steel schedule are fairer than those of the House."

In this connection the way in which Aldrich dominates the conference committee should be understood. This man Payne is one of the most liberal men upon the committee. His liberality to the people may be judged from the attitude betrayed in the above quotation. Nevertheless he is credited with having expressed himself in favor of dealing honestly with the people and saying that the Aldrich bill is not a square deal. During the last days of the bill in the Senate Speaker Cannon was in constant conference with Aldrich. The attitude of Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, did not satisfy Cannon or Aldrich. They were not sure that he would "come along" on all of the important schedules of the Aldrich bill. One in particular, the cotton schedule. So it was determined to load the House conference committee against the Chairman Payne.
Payne might give way a decent sentiment. Men who by precedent and the rules which have heretofore controlled in making conference committees were passed over and thrown into the discard to give place for men not entitled by precedent to appointment upon the committee. "Uncle Joe" made a precedent so as to make sure of his committee would be subservient to Aldrich by making the House committee one greater in number than the Senate, with the advice and consent of Aldrich of course and for the purpose of giving Boutell and Fordney a place. These are the ultra stand patters who with Balzell and Calder head are counted upon to control the House committee for anything Aldrich and Cannon want.

Rates Aldrich does not expect to maintain were placed at a high level in order that their lowering might appear to be concession to the House or the public or the President, just as Aldrich may wish to have believed.
There is to be the usual humbug and false pretense in the conference that has characterized proceedings in both houses, and the battle between the conference will be largely a sham battle, and the changes made will in great measure be for the purpose of telling the public that its interests have been taken care of.

The influence of the President is not expected to count for any more in the conference than it has in the Senate. It will be proclaimed that Mr. Taft has obtained concessions, just as it will be proclaimed that the House has won some bloodless and unimportant victories.

For Senator Aldrich, as the wise political leader, is perfectly willing that the public should think he has been defeated and that the public has gained something. Nor no one knows better than Senator Aldrich just what provisions of the bill confer upon the special interests the privileges it is his intention to bestow, and no one knows better how little he cares for other provisions which do not affect these special interests.

So with the woolen, the cotton, the steel, the sugar, the oil and the other monopolized industries provided for, many of them by paragraphs over which there is no controversy between the two houses, Aldrich can laugh at the demands of the House and of the President for modifications of unimportant paragraphs.

NEW OIL INSPECTION LAWS

Important Changes Made Regarding Sale Of Petroleum Products.

James Baker, deputy oil inspector, has received from the state oil inspector a list of changes which have been made in the oil laws of the state.
These changes go into effect after August 4th. The alterations are made in order to give the public higher grades of oil and in an effort to lessen the number of accidents from products containing gasoline.

Hereafter all oil coming into the city will be examined by inspectors while in the car tanks and will be subjected to a flash, burning and gravity test. This record shall be printed upon the tank wagon delivering the oil, and the law reads as follows concerning violations thereof.

Any person who shall personally or by clerk or agent sell or offer for sale or for use, or who shall in manner dispose of or attempt to dispose of any oil, gasoline, naphtha or other like products of petroleum under whatever name called for illuminating, heating or power purposes, which shall not have been examined or tested under the provisions of this act, or which, having been so tested, shall have been marked as rejected, or who shall knowingly use or furnish for use for illuminating, heating or power purposes any oil, gasoline, benzine, naphtha or other like products of petroleum, which shall not have been properly examined or tested and stamped, sealed or marked as herein provided, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $500.

HOLD MERCHANT RESPONSIBLE

In case injuries result to the person purchasing condemned oil, the merchant will be held responsible for all damages. This provision will doubtless have a salutary effect, as few dealers will risk being named as defendant in a heavy damage suit.

Persons found adulterating illuminating or heating oil are subject to a fine of from $50 to $500 or a jail sentence of not more than six months.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CARNIVAL

A steam merry-go-round located on the lot south of the M. E. church on Stevens street is proving a strong attraction for the young people of the city. Next Wednesday afternoon and evening the Wesleyan society of the M. E. church will have charge of the amusement. At the same time the society will serve ice cream and cake at the church.

NEW RURAL ROUTE

At the recommendation of Postoffice Inspector Moore, a rural route has been established at Pelican Lake.
The route will be in operation only during the summer months and is for the benefit of the tourists who have cottages along the lake. Bud Burns is the carrier.

DELEGATE TO IRRIGATION CONGRESS

Thos. McDermott Named To Attend National Gathering At Spokane

Governor Davidson has appointed Thos. McDermott of this city as a delegate from Wisconsin to the National Irrigation Congress at Spokane, Wash., August 9 to 14. The state will be represented by twelve delegates at this congress, the seventeenth to be held in the United States.

The entire number of delegates will be from 4500 to 5000 representing practically every state in the Union, Great Britain and Europe, China, Japan and the South American Republics. The program of the session will include addresses by experts in reclamation of swamp and arid lands, forestry, deep waterways, good roads and home building. The Badger Club of Spokane will assist in the entertainment of visitors while in the city.
Alex Cobban of Madison, a former Rhinelander man, has also been appointed as a delegate to the congress.

HOUSE HOPELESSLY INSANE

Dr. Gordon, superintendent of the Northern Hospital at Winnebago, writes that the foreigner named House, who was committed to the asylum from this city several weeks ago, is hopelessly insane and can live only a few months at the most.

The doctor adds that on several occasions House has attempted suicide by batting his head against the wall of his cell and it is necessary to keep the strictest watch over him. He is literally speaking a raving maniac.

House came to Rhinelander from Chicago and had worked a short time at the paper mill.

OFFICIAL MAY PAY

It is quite probable that Town Treasurer C. Winker, of the town of Harrison may have to pay the total amount of delinquent taxes he turned over against Mason & Donaldson, of Rhinelander, last spring to the county treasurer amounting to about $800. It is believed that the town treasurer named did not follow the right course to make such collections as, it is alleged that the company had at least $2,000 worth of furber at Bundy at collection time. Now it appears that the Rhinelander company had at least $2000 worth of lumber, and if that is correct, proceedings will undoubtedly be started against the official for the amount.

GETS LETTER FROM MITCHELL

Convict number 10563, known to the outside world as Nels Mitchell, has apparently not lost his interest in base ball even if he is confined behind the bars of the Waupun prison.
He writes Officer James O'Malley of this city inquiring into the welfare of the Rhinelander team and states that he wishes he was in a position to take a hand in the game. He also extends a cordial invitation to all Rhinelander friends to call on him should they ever be unfortunate enough to land in Waupun.

Mitchell was sentenced to the penitentiary from this city for the theft of a suit of clothes.

INDIANS PLEADED GUILTY

The two Indians recently arrested at Lac du Flambeau for introducing liquor on the Flambeau reservation pleaded guilty to the charge at Madison last Saturday. One of them attends school on the reservation and was obliged to act as interpreter for his partner. Both were sentenced to serve six months in the Dane county jail and to pay a fine of $100 in default of which they will have to serve thirty days extra in jail.

Of late the government has experienced much trouble with Indians who carry whiskey to the Flambeau reservation. In order to lessen the evil it is necessary to deal severely with the offenders.

RAIN PREVENTS GAME

Owing to the rain Sunday afternoon it was necessary to abandon the base ball game between the Crandon and Rhinelander teams. Although the rain was badly needed the fans were disappointed that it should interfere with their sport. The Crandon team was accompanied by a number of admirers who were compelled to spend the afternoon about the hotel lobby making mean remarks about the weather man. It is possible that the game may be played later in the season.

CORRIGAN'S WATCH FOUND

The gold watch owned by Patrick Corrigan, who was murdered last spring at Spokane, Wash., was recently discovered in a pawn shop at that city. The pawn broker said that the time piece came into his possession three days after the disappearance of Corrigan was reported to the police. A jeweler at Stevens Point positively identifies the watch as the one which he sold to Corrigan. It is believed that the finding of the watch may lead to the capture of the mur-derer.

Relatives and friends of Corrigan reside in this city.

There are two little errors in the article you published the other day about May Irwin and others. These ladies could hardly use the baking powder named, because it is an alum powder, and they are obliged in order to perform their professional duties to keep in perfect health, and they could not nor do they employ the powder named in cooking or baking.

The other is about that the Highest Award claimed to have been given said baking powder at the Chicago Exposition. It is a fact that at the Chicago World's Fair the managers excluded absolutely and totally all in either exhibits or awards, because they are not deemed proper articles for food, so that it would not have been possible for that baking powder being an alum powder, to obtain an award thereat, either highest or otherwise. Dr. Price's Baking Powder, a pure, cream of tartar powder, received the highest reward at the Chicago World's Exposition.

MANY JOURNEY WEST

In glancing through our exchanges it is surprising to note the large number of people who are flocking to the West this summer. Of course this is almost wholly due to the Yukon-Pacific exposition at Seattle which is attracting thousands of visitors from Wisconsin. The reduced rates offered by the railroads enables people to journey to the coast at a reasonable expense. Many Rhinelander residents have signified their intentions of visiting the fair during the months of August and September.

Sugar Camp resort is now open for guests. Board can be secured by week or day.

It has been the practice of a few of the business men of this city to assail their antagonists as a sequence of a difference of opinion or a wordy contest. They seem to think this method of procedure makes them heroes but the better element of the community classes them in their true light as bullies. It is high time that this method of procedure were stopped and it will be the policy of this paper to stop it and develop law abiding citizens instead of law breakers. Probably one of the best ways to bring about law and order is to give full publicity to the cases of assault and from this time we shall do this and let the ashes fall where they will.

William Kittle, secretary of the state normal regents, has an article in LaFollette's magazine of July tenth in which he shows the corrupt methods used to make public opinion for the interests over the masses.
He shows that thousands of dollars are used annually to deceive and corrupt the people against their own welfare. He takes the following headings in which improper methods have been used.

Making Public Opinion Against Municipal Ownership.

Making Public Opinion for the Insurance Company.

Standard Oil Company.

Aldrich Currency Bill.

Railway Companies.

Local Special Interests.

Numerous instances can be given of this control of public opinion by special interests. When municipal ownership was an issue in 1903 at an election in Seattle, all of the daily papers but one opposed it. The Seattle Times printed in large black faced type covering the whole upper part of the front page, the following:

"Municipal Ownership Spells Wreck and Ruin Wherever It Is Found."

Since successful municipal ownership is found in some form in most of the cities of the United States and in Great Britain the zeal of the rascals suggests the "hire and sale" of the columns.

During the same year, municipal ownership was an issue in Detroit.
Before, August, 1906 not a newspaper in the city had openly advocated granting a new franchise to the Detroit United Railway company.
Early in that month, the mayor, who had declared before his election that he was in favor of municipal ownership of the various parts of the street railway system when the franchises expired, started the city by announcing that he had "forced" the company to accept an extension of all its franchises until 1924. A rule of the common council compelled a referendum to the people. The street railway company began what is called a "campaign of education." It bought a half page space in every daily newspaper and every daily except one was either silent or advocated granting the franchise. A New York editor, writing in the Atlantic Monthly for October, 1903, stated that during the last three years, the department stores combined to modifiat least three daily papers of that city. A writer in The Nation in January, 1903, declared that only one New York paper had editorials on the insurance disclosures. Collier's Weekly of March, 1907, gave a long list of religious newspapers which were carrying fraudulent advertisements,-- which proved, not the corruption of public opinion by such papers, but which did demonstrate the necessity of advertising matter to give a reasonable profit on the investment.

STEPHENSON BLACK SHEEP.

So Says Chicago Record Herald—Illinois Is Hole in the Ground.

The recent vote on the tariff makes the Mississippi Valley together with some adjoining states stand out in striking prominence.

These states have, both by the last census and by estimates for 1903, almost exactly one-quarter of the population of the United States.

They are Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kan-

They have collectively two Democratic and sixteen Republican senators.

The Democrats of course voted against the Aldrich tariff bill. So did ten of the sixteen Republicans.
And these Republicans from contiguous territory were the only Republicans to vote against it.

Striking as this is, a further analysis of the vote is much more striking, for it justifies the belief that the people of this great area are practically solid against the Aldrich tariff.

The six senatorial votes out of the eighteen from this territory were as follows:

Missouri—Warner; elected in 1903 before the tariff issue became politically acute.

Kansas—Curtis; elected 1907; a survivor of the element rebuked last fall when Bristow beat Long.

South Dakota—Gamble; elected in 1907 for his second term, and in opposition on the tariff to his colleague Crawford, elected last fall.

Wisconsin—Stephenson; elected in 1909; successful through spending huge amounts of money, though ad-ed by his former connection with the progressive Republicanism which he has now deserted.

Illinois—Cullom and Lorimer.

For Missouri, Kansas and South Dakota, therefore, it appears that the votes for the tariff bill were given by senators elected two years or more ago, and out of touch with the present sentiment of their states.

For Wisconsin Stephenson is a "black sheep."

Illinois is the only state which shows two senatorial votes for the Aldrich bill. Right in the heart of the protesting territory, it makes itself exceptional by the misrepresentation its senators have given it.
It is the hole in the map.

Not the people of Illinois, but the domination of the state legislature by a bipartisanship of spoils has so stained the state.

Fortunately the end is not yet.
The Republican protest against Aldrich will strengthen itself in future elections, and Illinois will have its opportunity to join with its sister states, according to the will of its people.

HEARD AT THE CIRCUS.

Ladies and gentlemen, I now take untold pleasure in introducing to you "Zeke the Country Kid," a young man from the wilds of Northern Wisconsin, who dissatisfied with the color of hair presented him by nature, has caused his tresses to be dyed the darezing fox shade which you now behold. He will now render for your benefit and approval that touching old ballad entitled, "Not Because My Hair Is Yellow."

RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION

Forty-Six Children Become Members of St. Mary's Church

A beautiful and impressive ceremony took place at St. Mary's church Sunday morning when a class of forty-six children received their first holy communion.

Before receiving, Dr. Leinfelder, the pastor, required the girls to take a pledge that they would not attend dances until they were eighteen years of age. He also requested the boys to sign a pledge to refrain from the use of tobacco until the age of eighteen. In his address to the children he appealed to them to remain models of virtue and temperance.

A large number of people attended the services many of them being non-Catholics. The church was prettily decorated.

TO LITTLE CHILDREN

To all the dear children these lines are dedicated:

A dear little boy called to-day I ween,
And brought me a bouquet of roses They are lovely pink roses bedecked in green;
And of all the sweet flowers which I have seen
The sweet fragrant roses are crowned the queen.

Oh, dear little children who come and go Dropping in with their hands full of flowers, They come and they go, but they little know How their coming and going to and fro

Cheers old grandma for she loves them so.
My dear little children, Christ loves you too;
While on earth in his arms he would hold them.

Some chided and tried to keep them back,
But he reached out his arms to en-fold them;
And he said to the crowd who kept them back,

"Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not for such is the kingdom of heaven."

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE

Rhinelanders People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's Disease, or diabetes. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Rhineland proof:

Mrs. Alex Denoyer, of 723 Dorc Arc Rhineland Wis., says: "My son was troubled by weak kidneys for ten years. He was at times, laid up for days and I could not get a remedy that would give him relief. Finally I had the good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them at Reardon's drug store. They have greatly benefited my son and have built up his general health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.

FROM NEARBY TOWNS

Crandon—It is reported that another bank will be established in this city. F. J. Martin, cashier of the German-American bank at Shawano is here looking over the field and it is understood has secured an option on a desirable piece of ground upon which to erect a building.

Cameron—The remains of L. O. Dabby, the village cobbler, were found in his barn with the throat cut from ear to ear. Called to dinner by his daughter he asked to be permitted to finish a pair of shoes on which he was working. A few minutes later he disappeared and his body was discovered under some straw in the loft.

Superior—More iron ore has been discovered in Douglas county and it is estimated as being in such quantities as to give liberal returns for any investment that may be necessary for the mining of it. Samples of the ore brought back by C. A. Russell after a prospective trip through the southwestern part of the county have been tested by a chemist.

Park Falls—The Atwood Lumber and Manufacturing company is now sawing every day and expects to average 90,000 feet per day. The Atwood mill is one of the largest and best equipped lumber plants in the United States.

Wausau—John Gardner, a veteran of the civil war, was found dead in his room from locomotor ataxia. He was seventy-two years of age.

Stevens Point A new iron ore field has been discovered in northern Minnesota between the Messaba range and the Canadian boundary. A number of Stevens Point people took up stone and timber claims in this section about a year ago and it is possible that the deposits of ore may extend to their lands.

He was alone at the time and his body was not found until morning. His dog remained all night on the river bank awaiting the boy's return and the faithful animal gave the searchers the first clue as to his master's whereabouts.

Merrill—Ole Sinkleman, a farm hand, shot Miss Hattie Kasten and then killed himself with a revolver Monday afternoon, at the farm house of Aug. Kasten, the girl's father, about five miles from this city. The shooting was the outcome of a love affair. Miss Kasten is 19 years of age. Her injuries are considered fatal.

Youker, city superintendent of the Grand Rapids public schools for the past nine years, tendered his resignation to accept a position with the state normal school at Oshkosh as a perceptor of practice work. Bowel Complaint in Children

When six months old the little daughter of E. N. Dewey, a well known merchant of Agnewville, Va., had an attack of cholera infantum. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was given and effected a complete cure. This remedy has proven very successful in cases of bowel complaint in children and when given according to the plain printed directions can be relied upon with perfect confidence. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

MADAME RECAMIER WAS FAMOUS FOR HER BEAUTY

and Madame de Stael was famous for was as popular in Paris as Madame her brains, but in their day neither Lebarde, who was famous for her cooking. And when you consider that famous cooks are more fondly remembered than famous beauties and famous wits, the popularity of Madame Lebarde is the source of much comfort to womankind in general. For every woman can't be a beauty, although with stern application to modern methods she can come pretty near it and every woman can't be a wit, no matter how much education she may absorb, but every woman can be a good cook.

Cooking is a problem to be worked out by the formula; nine parts discretion and one part skill. The skill may be acquired by practice and the discretion may be acquired by proper training. Discretion in cooking means knowledge of what to use as well as how to use it. No woman can make a great success as a cook unless she has the right materials with which to accomplish results. First-class materials are absolutely necessary.

More biscuits are ruined by poor baking powder than there are bees in a hive. To obtain a perfect baking der. And that does not mean expensive baking powder, for the best is Calumet, which sells at a moderate price. Calumet Baking Powder received the Highest Award at the World's Pure Food Exposition.

It has been in use for many years and has always met with unvarying success. For sale by F. L. Hinman & Co.

Contentment and true happiness are the fruit of qualities of heart and character rather than possessions merely. That is why palatial homes and big bank accounts are often the haunts and accompaniments of misery.

The hawk that sails lazily over the fields and meadows with sharp eye fixed on the ground is searching for a meal in the shape of gopher, squirrel or rabbit. In view of this fact he should be free from attack by the small boy's shotgun or rifle.

Offer to pay the average man $5 to tramp twenty-five miles in a pair of heavy rubber boots, and he would laugh at the idea, yet he will take just such a trip to get one measly little duck and often doesn't have this much to show for his pains (and aches).

One of the best agricultural signs to be noted this spring is the large number of farmers who this season for the first time are using the disk drill. Every farmer who has bought one is a sort of home missionary in bringing about a more sensible type of agriculture.

Every child that comes into an American home has the right, all too seldom realized, of being well born, a privilege which most farm owners see is accorded to the pure bred stock which is reared on the farm. There is a suggestion here which is worthy of a great deal more thoughtful consideration than it is usually given.

The Alaska-Yukon exposition, which opens at Seattle the 1st of June, has put up prizes aggregating $100,000 for live stock exhibits, while one-half of the total ground space at the exposition will be devoted to agriculture, horticulture and allied industries and a display of their respective products. Along the lines mentioned and many others this western exposition gives promise of being one of the most valuable and instructive which have ever been held.

Now and then one runs across some discussion of the question whether there is any connection between the feeding of silage and tuberculosis. There is no necessary connection between the two things, though it is quite likely that the stable conditions under which silage is often fed—warm air and little or no ventilation—are quite conducive to the spread of tuberculosis once it gets a foothold. Healthy stock in properly ventilated quarters will not contract tuberculosis from eating silage any sooner than they will from eating corn fodder or clover hay. It's what they take into their lungs and not what goes into their stomachs that does the mischief.

THE PARASITE DODDER.
The worst enemy of clover and alfalfa fields is dodder, a parasitic plant whose seed is light gray, yellowish or brown and about the size of red clover seed and very hard to distinguish from it. Dodder seed germinates in the ground, sending up a slender, thread-like stem, yellow or reddish in color, which at once attaches itself to its host plant, the one on which it sponges for a living. Twining closely around the stem or leaf, it sends its sucking organs into the tissue and lives on its juices, weakening or killing the plant. The dodder stem may be cut into any number of pieces, but if attached to clover or alfalfa each section will thrive. The dodder flowers and produces abundant seed, which drop to the ground for another season. Clover that is infested with dodder not only mats together and lodges, but is cured with difficulty and has been known to cause scours in cattle when fed as hay. Once established in an alfalfa field, dodder is likely to ruin it. In clover the damage is not so great, for, being a biennial, the clover is used in a rotation, the dodder dying out when it has no clover plants on which to subsist.

THE WILD RICE LEGEND.

Longfellow's "Hiawatha" relates an interesting legend of the origin of the corn plant. A legend of similar charm has been handed down telling of the origin of the wild rice which is relished not only by myriads of wild fowl, but is a staple article of food with many northern Indians. The story is that long years ago the Indian tribes lived in the sunny south, but in course of time they increased, covering all lands, except the north. In order to prevent the extinction of game many tribes became cannibals. One tribe, whose chief was Babomwigistikung, thought this was wrong. Wandering one day far from his haunt in search of game, he became exhausted from fatigue and hunger and lay down to sleep. In a vision he saw a beautiful white spirit, which told him to gather his tribe together and take them to the northland, where they would have peace and plenty. On his journey he would come to a great lake, on the shore of which he would find a birch bark basket containing seed which he was to sow upon the waters, and this would grow and produce a food that would prove everlasting. The only condition exacted was that his tribe should always live in peace and harmony with the white race. The directions were carried out, the seed planted, and wild rice grew, furnishing a nourishing food for the Indian and proving a great attraction for wild fowl.

The existence of this legend is cited to the present day to explain why the Chippeway Indians have never been at war with the whites. Wild rice still forms a staple article of diet with many northern Indians, while the extensive fields of it are the gathering place for wild fowl, some of them flying hundreds of miles to reach them. The plant thrives in ponds or flowing streams, varying in depth from a few inches to four feet. The seed is often sown in game preserves and private ponds and seems to do well under a variety of soil conditions, though it seems to flourish best where the bottom is a soft black mud. The seed may be sown in spring or fall, preferably the latter, and may be secured of several northern farms. Where wild rice grows the ducks will come to feed, and the hunting in many a locality where there are suitable ponds or streams could be greatly improved were some wild rice sown.

WOULD START A POULTRY FARM.

A nearby reader of these notes, a young man who has but a limited amount of money to invest in any business enterprise, writes for suggestions as to how and when he could to best advantage start a poultry farm. He expresses a preference to be near some body of running water, so that he could keep ducks and geese as well as chickens, and would like enough land to raise the grain needed in his operations. It would be impossible to state without knowing conditions intimately whether one town were better than another as a market for poultry products. There is little question that there are many where the conditions would be all right. Success in any case would depend more upon the man than the conditions. We would suggest to our friend that he visit several of his nearest market centers, inquire the price of small parcels of land which would be suitable for poultry raising, try to ascertain the cost of buildings, equipment, etc., when he would be in shape to make a wise decision. If he has not had considerable experience in poultry raising he would do well to start in on a modest scale, enlarging his operations as he acquires familiarity with the business.

Weeds, like bad habits, are most easily and effectively eradicated when they are just getting started. In both cases it means less grief later on.

The married man who tries to cultivate a care free mind and takes one-fourth of the exercise he did when a boy will quite likely find his wife's cooking as appetizing as his mother's was years ago. It isn't so much the cooking as the fellow and his appetite which have changed.

In 1890, 25.5 per cent of the farms of the country were leased to tenants; in 1900 the number had increased to 35.3, while today the proportion is placed at about 40 per cent. The trend is one that does not bode any good, as the owner cannot farm by proxy as well as he can first hand.

The newly set orchard will do much better if it is given careful cultivation during the first few years, in which interval potatoes, beans or strawberries may be grown. If the cultivation and removal of a crop leave the ground too bare in the fall a light mulch of straw scattered along the tree rows will furnish a cover which will serve to catch the snow.

Oats cut green in the early dough stage and properly cured make a roughage that is not appreciated to the full. Such oat hay is nearly as good as timothy and much to be preferred to millet. When cut early in the above manner the land may be sowed to rye or some other crop which will furnish good feed during the fall and winter and give a good supply of green manure to plow under in the spring for corn.

Of the meat consumed in France 11.5 per cent is horseflesh. In Paris there are 255 butchers who sell horse meat or "mulet" (mule meat) exclusively. Mulet is viewed as a luxury by some classes and is indulged in only on Sundays or holidays. When the weary cab horses of London and Paris have outlived their usefulness as motor power they are no longer allowed an interval in quiet pasture and a decent burial, but after hauling the rich must furnish food for the poorer classes.

The ready adaptation of plant life to environment is nicely shown in the roots of trees from which the earth has been removed, exposing them to the air and sunlight. In a short time they take on the appearance of trunk and limbs. Again the germ shoots of plants destined to be branches readily transform to roots if covered with soil. Helpless seemingly as these creatures of the vegetable kingdom are, they are nevertheless endowed with a marvelous capacity for looking out for their own welfare.

One of the most interesting as well as beautiful species of the duck family is the green winged teal, which, though of small size, is viewed as a dainty morsel by the sportsman who is fortunate enough to bag it. To counterbalance extreme agility in rising from the water and speed in flight the little fellows are very sociable when a number of them are assembled, the trill-like whistle of the drake and diminutive squawk of the hen betraying the presence of a flock to the hunter a quarter of a mile away.

A ten-year-old boy we have in mind is spending many of his spare hours evenings—he plays and ought to between 4 and 6—reading entertaining books of history, adventure and travel instead of gadding off nights and encountering all kinds of degrading influences. It's a mighty hopeful sign when a boy of this age gets the reading habit. More boys should develop it and possibly would if a little more pains were taken to make the home the pleasantest as well as most interesting place in the neighborhood and were the boy's self respect awakened by a little more sympathy and companionship.

The idea of a co-operative laundry located at the creamery, where the waste steam and heat could be used in operating it, is said to have been broached a number of years ago by Secretary James Wilson before a western farmers' institute, and the objection urged against it by the farmers' wives present was that they didn't care to have anybody outside their own homes see how dirty their clothes were. While there is little question that country clothes do get dirtier than city clothes as a result of dust and sweat and heat, squeamishness in this particular has to quite an extent disappeared with city folk with the advent of the city laundry. Could the good wife of the farm home be relieved of the drudgery of the Monday wash for about six weeks her fastidiousness would likewise disappear.

Every boy who has a chance to go to school should make the most of it and not squander the best opportunities he ever has by fooling away his time with things that are not worth while. The reason why so many boys make a mistake at this point is that they don't see the connection between schooling and success in after life. But, whether they see it or not, the connection is there just the same. The difference between the fellow who goes through life merely a clodhopper and ignorant and the one who succeeds in what he undertakes is largely the result of the use which is made of the years in school. Many a man looking back is able to see the mistake he made when he quit school for no good reason and, metaphorically speaking, kicks himself soundly, but to no purpose, for it is too late. The time for the boy to give this matter of schooling effective consideration is when kicking will do some good.

The most persistent and ever present problem with which the tiller of the soil has to deal is that of weeds. Whether they are the fruit of Adam's disobedience or "just grew," it makes little difference so far as the vital aspects of the matter go. While the prime object of good farming is to raise useful crops, it will also be directed to reducing the weed pest to a minimum, the number of which within certain limits on the farm being fairly indicative of the type of agriculture which is being carried on. There are several ways in which this good work of weed extermination may be aided. One lies in the more thorough preparation of the soil; another, the use of plump and clean seed of good vitality which will give a full stand of the kind of crop that it is intended to raise; a third, more thorough cultivation of the tilled crops. Other aids to the same end, covering a period of more than one year, are the raising of sheep and the adoption of a sensible system of crop rotation. In all of this it is well to keep in mind that it takes just as much ginger out of the soil to raise a rank crop of weeds as a good crop of corn, potatoes or oats and a good deal more than it does to grow crops of clover or alfalfa. When land is allowed to produce weeds, whatever the cause, it is clearly a case of wasted energy and misdirected effort.

The Maine experiment station has for the past nine years been conducting an extensive as well as exhaustive series of experiments along the line of developing a strain of Plymouth Rocks of large egg capacity—that is, a strain in which large laying capacity would be transmitted from parent to offspring. A bulletin recently issued by the station covering the experiments of the period mentioned states in conclusion that so far as has been observed this aim has not been realized, egg laying capacity seeming to be almost entirely an individual rather than an inherited matter. The experiments showed that, instead of increasing, the egg capacity of one flock selected with especial care from prolific mothers in fact deteriorated somewhat during the nine year period. While those in charge of the experiments assign no specific reason for this deterioration and possibly could not, is there not a possibility that chicks hatched from hens which were producing as high as 200 eggs annually may have lacked vitality as a result and that this more than descent from prolific ancestors may be a determining factor in large egg capacity? Whatever the cause, the above findings are more than likely to let a lot of hot air out of the claims of some poultry raisers who have been getting unheard of prices for eggs alleged to be from 200 egg strain breeds.
